

Comments from last years Guides

- I enjoyed making new friends and it has improved my social skills
- Confidence to say what I think
- It has shown me that there is more to guiding than just your unit
- Helping other people in the community
- Different ways you can help the Community
- Realising how far you can go with guides
- I am more aware of global issues
- By being independent
- Lots of Fun

2011 ICE Weekend

In 2011, Guides from Girlguiding North East England took part in an International Community Experience Weekend, at Zetland House, Marske by the Sea where they were visited by the RNIB and learned about the support they give to blind and partially sighted people.

This weekend offered the girls a taste of what community action involves and helped them to recognise that Guiding is an international movement.

What did they do?

- They took part in activities to understand how blind and partially sighted people cope with everyday life.
- They took part in lots of exciting international challenges
- Made lots of new friends
- Most importantly – they had F U N !!

What else?

The girls who were interested in more Community Action went to Jersey in 2010. On their first full day in Jersey they went to the coast and helped remove a plant from the sand dunes. This plant had started to take over the sand dunes and was preventing local plants from growing.

Why don't you try ICE in 2012
